

TOWAMENCIN TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT STUDY COMMISSION QUESTION

Shall a government study commission of seven members be elected to study the existing form of government of Towamencin Township, to consider the advisability of the adoption of a home rule charter; and if advisable, to draft and to recommend a home rule charter?

Yes or No

Plain English

Under Pennsylvania's Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans law a question has been placed on the ballot asking voters to approve the formation of a government study commission consisting of seven members to study the existing form of government in Towamencin Township. A majority yes vote on this question would approve the formation of the government study commission. If the commission is approved, the commission would determine if the adoption of a home rule charter is advisable. If the commission determines that the adoption of a home rule charter is advisable they would recommend its adoption, draft a home rule charter, and the question on the adoption of that home rule charter for Towamencin Township would be placed on the ballot in a future election to be approved or rejected by electors of the Township. A majority yes vote on that future question would adopt the home rule charter.

TOWAMENCIN TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT STUDY COMMISSION VOTE

Towamencin Township Government Study Commission
(Vote For Not More Than Seven)

If the question of forming a government study commission is approved by the voters, seven people are required to be elected to serve on the commission. Regardless of how you voted on the question of appointing a government study commission, you can vote to elect candidates to the commission. You may vote for no more than seven candidates to serve on the study commission.